TUESDAY WINTER'S COLDEST

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

ALTHOUGH the highway death rate in America has stabilized the last few years, being a fraction of a per cent better last year than the year before, the fact that approximately 36,000 lives are claimed each year is causing the motor industry to take a more active interest in safety-first campaigns.

Italy Celebrates Major Victory in Northern Ethiopia

Asserts 5,000 to 6,000 of Enemy Slain at Amba Aradam

DEFEAT ADMITTED

But Ethiopians Declare It Was Costly Victory for Invaders

By the Associated Press
Italy celebrated the announcement of a sweeping victory in northern Ethiopia with displays of national flags and enthusiastic mass meetings Tuesday.

The Italian government announced that between 5,000 and 6,000 Ethiopians had been killed and twice as many wounded in a battle at Amba Aradam, while the Italian losses were slight.

But from Addis Ababa came disparagements of the victory claims. Commander Ras Mulugheta, whom the Italians claimed was defeated, said the Italians lost heavily and the Ethiopian losses were slight.

Victory Not Denied
ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia.—The Ethiopian government did not deny Monday night Italy had won a big victory south of Makale, but it declared Italian statements that 20,000 of War Minister Mulugheta's warriors had been slain or wounded "undoubtedly" were exaggerated.

Reports of sharp fighting on the southern front gave rise to the belief here that Marshal Badoglio and General Graziani had launched simultaneous offensives in both sectors.

An official statement said 4,000 natives in the southern Italian army had deserted and crossed over into Great Britain's Kenya colony where they were being held in an internment camp.

More Italian Money
ROME, Italy.—(Copyright Associated Press)—The Italian government Tuesday decreed an appropriation of about 122 million dollars for extraordinary military defense expenditures.

Lost Cannons of the Confederacy Sought

FORT DAVIS, Texas.—(AP)—W. L. Kingston, Jeff Davis county commissioner, has been looking for two brass cannons for 40 years.

He said Confederate soldiers buried the cannon and other baggage in 1864 in order to hasten their famished horses on a retreat. Kingston said his information came from one of the soldiers.

"Brass doesn't rust, and I want to set the cannon up for the Texas centennial," he said.

More Than 300 Ballots Cast in DeRoan Township at 1:15 p. m.

HEAVY IN WARD TWO

Half of Precinct's Qualified Ballots Already Cast, Estimate

Despite the coldest day this year, voters in DeRoan township went to the polls Tuesday in larger numbers than expected to ballot in the Hempstead county local option election.

A survey of the five precincts in the township at 1:15 p. m. showed that more than 300 citizens had cast ballots.

In one precinct, Ward Two, approximately half of the normal voting strength had been recorded when the survey was taken.

The survey at 1:15 p. m.: Ward One—Arkansas Bank & Trust Co. building, 83 votes. The judges said that the normal vote there was 300 or better.

Ward Two—Frisco depot, 75 votes, with a normal vote of about 100.

Ward Three—556 Service Station, 62 votes. Poll tax receipts in that Ward total 184.

Ward Four—City Hall, 26 votes. The judges said they expected approximately 100 to vote.

Country Box Five—Hempstead County Lumber Co., 56 ballots. The judges there said they had no idea what the normal vote was.

The maximum voting strength of the entire township is approximately 1,100, according to poll tax receipts.

Postal League in Balkans Founded

Agreements Reducing Postal Rates Signed by Small Nations

BELGRADE, (AP)—As the result of negotiations lasting nearly a year and agreements signed here in the capital of Yugoslavia, states of the Little Entente and the Balkan pact put in force on January 1 a postal federation similar to the Pan-American and the Spanish postal union.

It affects Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Greece and Turkey.

A reduction of postal rates among the signers of the union has been effected. Standing committees in each capital will study postal, telegraphic and radio problems.

Fun to Ride a Horse

—Except for the Falls

TULLAHOMA, Tenn.—(AP)—Don't mention horses to Lucy Mason.

She was riding one the other day, lost his balance and fell. One of his legs caught in the stirrup, and he was dragged along.

Unlabeled, he went horseback riding the next day, and fell to the street. Three automobiles ran over him, luckily, all drivers managed to straddle their cars over his body.

Puzzle: How'd It Get In?

Here's one of those "blown in the bottle" puzzles. It shows a foot-long salt water trout imprisoned in a five-gallon glass jug, the neck of which is only three-quarters inch in diameter. How did the fish get in? Experts who viewed the trout after it was pulled out of the jug near Sarasota, Fla., opined that it established a home in the jug when it was a fingerling, found food in abundance washed into its home, and stayed until it was too large to get out.

Family Wiped Out by Kansas Blaze

HUTCHINSON, Kan.—(AP)—Seven persons, all members of one family, perished in a fire which destroyed their small home south of Hutchinson early Tuesday.

The dead are: Frank E. Broyles, 36, salt plant employee. His wife, 30. Their five children.

Clayton Criticizes Cotton 'Tinkering'

Noted Cotton Merchant Hits Government Market Policies

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Government "tinkering" with cotton was condemned Monday by W. L. Clayton, Houston, Texas, cotton merchant at the start of senate agriculture committee investigation into futures exchanges.

Clayton was the first witness. Hearings were authorized last year after a two-cent market break March 11, 1935.

The cotton merchant said "government tinkering with the cotton market" was chiefly responsible for the drop.

"The unusual market situation that made the price break of March 11 was caused by the overpricing of American cotton due to the cotton program, and 12-cent loan," Clayton declared.

Fast policies of the government in dealing with the cotton situation, he added, has substituted "guessing" for "experience, judgment, discretion and such like qualities" in fixing the value of cotton.

"No one wants to trade in a commodity, the price of which is influenced by government buying and selling, government above-value non-recovery loans, government control of production, etc," Clayton declared.

"Every trader wants a free and open market, responding to the law of supply and demand. Such experience has taught them that they can not safely trade on guesses as to what the next government move will be."

U.S. Takes Island's Entire Production

Yugoslavs in This Country Have Fondness for Native Cheese

SPLIT, Yugoslavia.—(AP)—Yugoslavs in the United States are consuming the entire production of sheep cheese made on the little islands of Olib, Filba and Molat, along the Adriatic coast of Dalmatia.

The inhabitants of the islands have formed a co-operative to produce a special kind of cheese obtained from native sheep crossed with Spanish merino. They have found a ready market among the Yugoslav owners of restaurants in America for their product at about 25 cents a pound.

The output at present is small, the co-operative owning only about 1,500 sheep.

Bonus Committee at Checkered Cafe

The committee will continue to operate at Checkered cafe through Friday of this week, which will be the last day veterans will be aided free of charge.

Bonus applications for approximately 350 veterans have been filed to date, leaving about 150 yet to be filled out in Hempstead county.

New Farm Plan to Require State Aid

Enabling Legislation Will Make U. S. Program a "Local" One

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Associated Press Correspondent
WASHINGTON.—Proponents of farm legislation to take the place of the invalidated AAA are worried more than they care to admit publicly over how quickly the various state legislatures will come forward with their approval of the act once it becomes law.

The various pillars of the bill is that the various states must agree to cooperate with the Federal Government in the working out of the new program. The Supreme Court expressly declared in its AAA decision that agriculture was a local rather than a national question, and must so be dealt with.

Under the bill now being considered, the Federal Government can furnish direct grants for relief to farmers only until 1938. Thereafter only those States which agree to come in on the program may receive Federal funds.

Speed Necessary
Although the constitutionality of the entire program has been questioned by both proponents and opponents of the bill, administration leaders in Congress concluded they would push for its enactment, in the hope that a Supreme Court test could be avoided until the States had voted their approval.

If the States acted with reasonable speed, they figured the principal hurdle could be cleared before opponents would have time to frame a case to test the plan.

"Technically, such reasoning is fine," one farm leader in the Senate says. "but in practice it has not always worked out so well."

"Any one familiar with the sluggishness and slowness of State legislative machinery knows the difficulty of getting appropriate legislation of this nature in proper shape speedily."

Father Coughlin Bitterly Attacked on Floor of House

FARM BILL MOVES

Conservation Subsidy Is Given Right-of-Way in the House

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Before a packed gallery, in a tense, listening house, Representative Boland, Pennsylvania Democrat, wip, Tuesday assailed Father Charles E. Coughlin, radio priest, as "the chief threat to our existing form of government."

Previously Representative O'Connor had apologized to the house for a threat to "kick" Father Coughlin, asserting it was unintended; and said, "I apologize for the manner in which I referred to the clerical garb."

Farm Bill Advances
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The administration's 500-million-dollar soil conservation subsidy farm bill Tuesday was given right-of-way for consideration in the house Wednesday.

The rules committee approved a resolution to allow five hours of general debate on the legislation, passed by the senate late Saturday on a 56-to-20 ballot.

10 Dead in Spanish National Election

Conservative Police Clash With Politically Victorious Radicals

MADRID, Spain.—(AP)—Another man was killed and several more were wounded Tuesday in a clash between the politically-victorious Leftists and police in Zaragoza, as the rest of Spain quailed down after Sunday's parliamentary election.

Although the Left claimed an absolute majority in the new Cortes with 264 of 473 seats, the Right coalition conceded only 208 places and declared the outcome of the elections would not be known until a second ballot March 1, when about 33 seats are to be decided.

The family of President Niceto Alcala Zamora took refuge in the presidential palace, a veritable fortress.

Gas Mains Burst; Utica, N. Y., on Fire

Downtown District Evacuated—Fire Is Brought Under Control

UTICA, N. Y.—(AP)—Several thousand persons hastily evacuated the main business section Tuesday when a series of illuminating gas explosions set fire to two buildings and hurled man-hole covers high into the air.

A policeman and a fireman were seriously injured.

The fires were quickly extinguished, but officers refused to let anyone re-enter the danger zone.

It was announced that broken gas mains, feeding gas into the sewers and cable tunnels, had been cut off, but a fourth main was still spreading gas under the main business section.

Second Reprieve Hinted for Bruno

His Resentencing Is Delayed Pending New Hearing Decision

TRENTON, N. J.—A broad hint from Gov. Harold G. Hoffman Monday that Bruno Richard Hauptmann might be granted both a new hearing before the Court of Pardons and a second reprieve resulted in an unexpected delay in plans to resentence the German carpenter.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard agreed to wait until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday before signing the new death warrant. The Lindbergh kidnap-murder trial jurist's latest plans were announced from the state attorney general's office.

The governor's frank discussion of the situation, which reached a dramatic crisis in the efforts of Samuel S. Leibowitz, Manhattan criminal lawyer, to wrest a confession from Hauptmann, took place in the executive chambers in mid-afternoon.

Hoffman discussed the possibility of a confession, but said he had not been informed whether Hauptmann had indicated his story. The governor indicated that failure of John (Jasie) Condon to return from a South American cruise in time to be questioned before the new execution date might be sufficient reason to justify a second 30-day reprieve. In addition to a governor's guarded references to a second mercy plea before the Court of Pardons, it was learned from other sources that such a hearing already had been assured.

Gambling Operator Is Given One Year

Elmer Peebles, of Club Seville, Convicted at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK.—Elmer Peebles, operator of Club Seville on the Hot Springs highway, was convicted of operating a gambling house in First Division Circuit Court Monday by a jury, which fixed his punishment at one year in the penitentiary. He was released on a $1,700 bond, which also covers four pending misdemeanor gambling indictments.

Madrid Loftin, defense attorney, filed motion for a new trial would be filed immediately and that an appeal would be taken to the Arkansas Supreme Court if the motion is overruled.

Peebles' trial was the first since the Tulsa county grand jury responded to investigation into commercial gambling. Trials of 11 defendants, accused in misdemeanor indictments, returned last Thursday, have not been started.

The charge on which Peebles was convicted is a felony, subject to a maximum penalty of five years in the penitentiary. He offered no defense after the state presented a dozen witnesses including two of the officers who raided Club Seville last October, when gambling devices were seized.

Mercury Falls to 8½ Here; Blizzards Raking the North

Lowest Temperature in Arkansas Is 8 Below Zero at Piggott

RELIEF PROMISED

Dakota Towns Isolated by Snowbanks and Record Subzero Weather

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Arkansas experienced its coldest blast in recent years Monday night and Tuesday morning. Piggott, in the extreme northeastern corner of the state, reporting an unofficial 8 degrees below zero.

Little Rock had a minimum of 5 degrees above, the coldest here since February 8, 1933, when the mercury dropped to a low of 4.

Fort Smith had 4 above.

A light snow was reported in the northern and western sections of the state.

6½ Degrees in Hope
The coldest weather this winter struck Hope Tuesday morning when the mercury fell to 6½ degrees on the official instrument of the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station.

The previous low was 14, reached twice earlier in the month.

Water pipes in many Hope residences were frozen Tuesday morning by the unexpected sharp freeze. The mercury fell precipitately during the late hours Monday night, and continued downward toward morning.

The forecast is fair and not quite so cold Tuesday night, and partly cloudy with rising temperature Wednesday.

Trains Again Blocked

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Drifting snow raked new barriers about isolated villages in the Midwest, storm country Monday as stores of food and fuel became almost exhausted.

Half a dozen South Dakota, communities—Hereford, Voltaire, Stoneville, Creston, Fairpoint and Hoover—were cut off again after rescue expeditions had cleared roads leading to them over the week-end. Meager reports from the hamlets said conditions were approaching the critical point.

Corn and fence posts were burned at Hereford. All the flour was gone at Hoover. A new blizzard blocked highways. Silence veiled the progress of relief parties moving toward Sulphur and Twilight. Intense cold prevailed, and for George Hight piloted a ski plane 75 miles through the blizzard to take Gus Anderson, of Capitol, Wyo., to a hospital at Belle Fourche.

Abnormal cold settled down for another two-day stay in the North Central states. Fresh snow halted rail and automobile travel in the vicinity of Grand Forks, N. D. Drifts hampered travel in other portions of the Northwest and Midwest.

Cold records were broken at several points. At Watertown, S. D., the 27th consecutive day of subzero weather was recorded. Fairmont, Minn., suffered the 31st successive day of temperatures that averaged -18. The 27th day in a row of subzero reading broke a record established in 1888 at Lincoln, Neb. Fuel shortages closed scores of schools.

Two pilots were missing. Clyde Lee, who took off from Pierre, S. D., Sunday afternoon to survey the blizzard-bound belt, was unreported. There was no word from Capt. E. W. Stitt, who started for ice-locked Smith island in Chesapeake Bay Sunday. Fog shrouded the region.

Exiled Colonel Franco Is Set Up as Provisional President

ASUNCION, Paraguay.—(Copyright Associated Press)—A military revolutionary movement proclaimed the exiled Colonel Rafael Franco provisional president of this South American republic Tuesday after a swift rebellion overthrew the government of President Ayala.

Reports from the cities of Posadas and Corrientes, in Argentina on the Paraguayan frontier, said that from four regiments to an entire corps of infantry soldiers had rebelled in Asuncion. It was said the rebels were under the leadership of Colonels Smith and Recalde, both veterans of the Great War.

Other reports from Northern Argentina said Paraguayan government officials had taken refuge in a marine arsenal which the rebels were attacking. Police and sailors of Paraguay's small river navy were reported declining the officials.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHEEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Once upon a time, people did a good deal of worrying if they were thin. Nowadays, they usually go about bragging how they can control their weight, the worrying being done by fat persons trying to get thin. Any one who is seriously undernourished, and consequently thin, however, has something to worry about.

Failure to keep the weight up to normal, as indicated by a haggard appearance, is a definite disorder of the human body. Sometimes a disturbance of the glands of internal secretion is involved; usually, though, the cause is overactivity of the thyroid.

Thyroid overactivity can be determined by a study of the basal metabolic rate, and by other symptoms which the physician will find on examination. In any such instances, immediate rest is necessary, and the removal of all or part of the thyroid gland by surgery may be necessary.

In the majority of cases, undernutrition can be overcome by three good meals a day, selected for their nourishing qualities.

If you are gravely undernourished, it might be necessary for you to go to a hospital where you will be carefully treated.

Today's Health Question

Q.—What foods digt treatment are best in healing a duodenal ulcer?

A.—Essential features of the diet used in treating cases of ulcer of the duodenum are that it shall be composed of bland, non-irritating foods, beginning with milk and cream and including later soft eggs and cooked cereals, the meals to be given frequently and in small amounts. The patient should, for a considerable period, have absolute rest in bed.

Every person with ulcer of the duodenum should be under the care of a competent physician, who should see the patient at frequent intervals and prescribe the diet carefully.

tain to get plenty of rest, and where hospital authorities see that you get the food you need.

A new method for fattening people rapidly involves the use of insulin. Given before each meal, followed by food rich in carbohydrates, a little insulin helps to put on weight promptly. The amount of food required by any individual depends not only on the work he does, but on his size and the amount of rest he takes daily. Failure to gain weight may be due to either overactivity, excessive smoking, nervous exhaustion, or lack of sleep. If you fail persistently to put on weight, consult a physician. He will study carefully your physical condition and habits, and base his advice on the conditions he finds.

In the vast majority of cases, however, putting on weight is merely a matter of "physiological bookkeeping." When the food enters your body, it is absorbed. Your body burns up a certain amount of material in its daily work, and the rest of the food accumulates. If you do not eat sufficient food, your body will burn up, first of all, the stored up fat; then it begins to use up the protein from the tissues. This is harmful to health.

A Book a Day

By Bruce Catton

If you have ever wondered what happens to a sincere and idealistic liberal when bloody revolution breaks loose, you might profitably consider the case of that noble Frenchman, the Marquis de Lafayette.

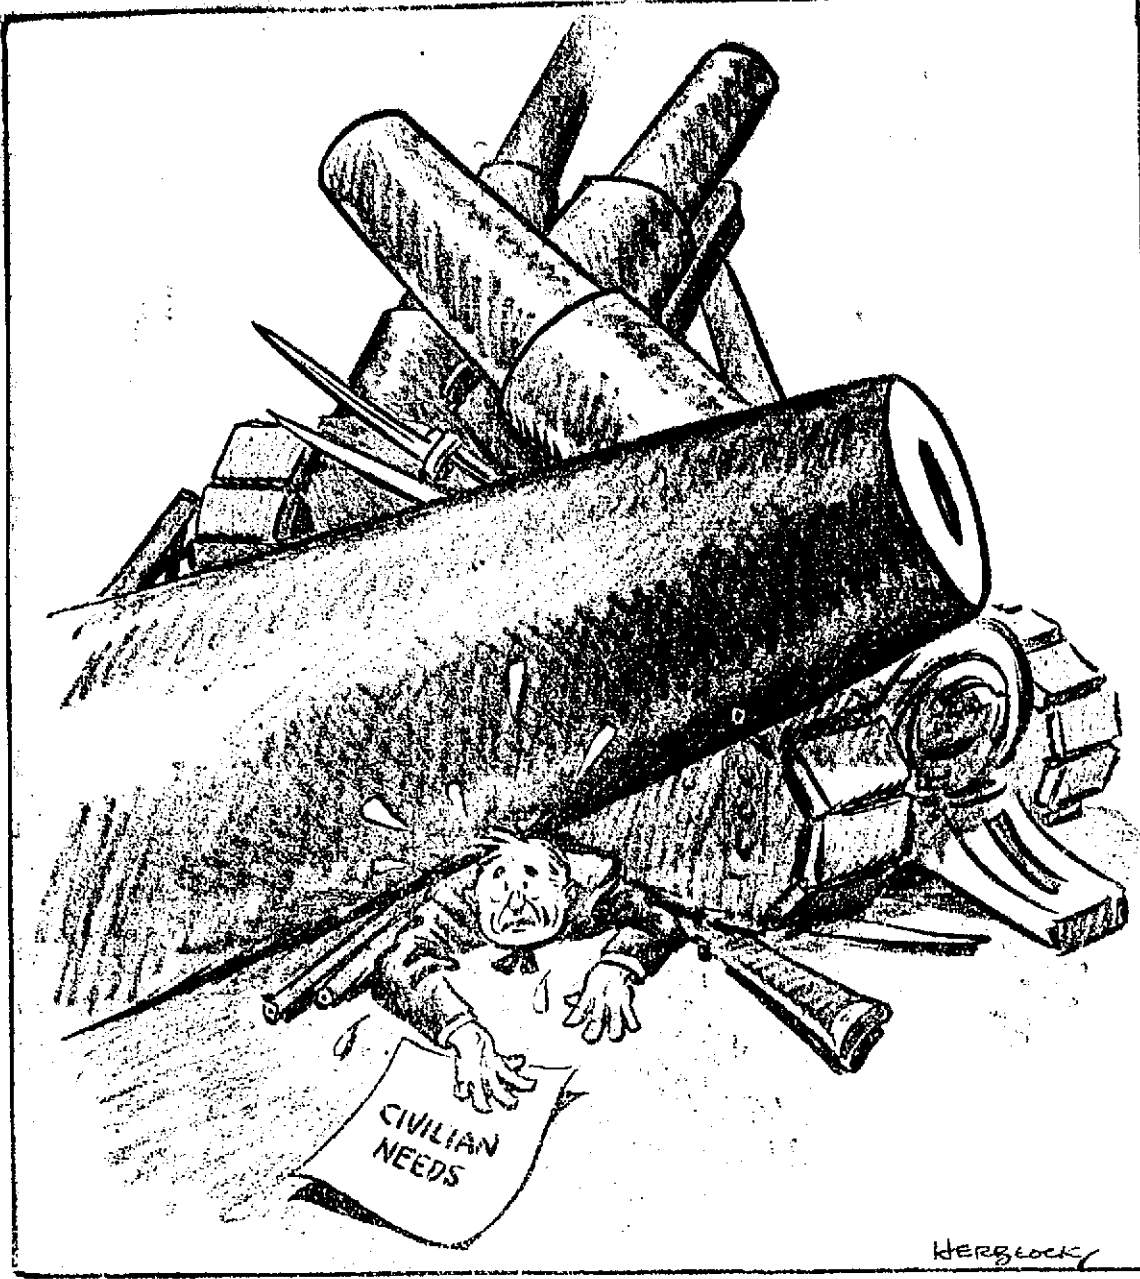

Lafayette's case indicates that the sincere and idealistic liberal has but one function, at such a time, viz: to get it in the neck from both sides. If the terrorists don't cut off his head, the Tories are apt to hang him; and both groups will call him all the names they know.

A god exposition of this is found in "Lafayette," an interesting new biography by Andreas Latzko.

It shows how Lafayette, wealthy young aristocrat, fed on liberal ideas as a youth and as a dashed madly to America as one of the most disinterested and pure-minded warriors in all history. American independence won, he went back to France as the greatest hero and most popular idol of the day.

Came, then, the revolution. Lafayette gave it the blessing of his great name—and saw it move out from un-

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON feels her dreams have come true when she sets out on a three week ocean cruise. She received her ticket in place of the salary due her when the travel magazine employing her as a typist suspended publication. On home Jane meets handsome DIRK STROM who has been skimming at Lake Placid. He introduces her to his friend, SNOWSHOES, a detective. Snowshoes tells them that NORA LANE, famous actress, is on board. Miss Lane owns the famous Rokinor diamonds and it is known that she usually has it with her.

Dirk actually is a connoisseur as Jane, injured during the sinking of a ship, is saving the life of a child, he accepted the cruise ticket from the child's father. MANIE JACKSON, who appears to be a rather questionable individual, knocks at the door of Dirk's stateroom. Later she pretends he was mistaken in the number. Snowshoes tells Dirk, warns him that Manie is a crook.

NOV GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VI

MEANWHILE Jane stood before the small mirror in her stateroom, rubbing cold cream on her face. It was almost a ritual to find out just who was to put on her list. No one that didn't produce, he could tell you that.

Let them alone, these youngsters. They have motives behind their giving maybe, but who hasn't. Mercenary? Yes, a lot. Not always, of course, because sometimes, like us, they give from purely altruistic motives. But it is better than it sounds. Why do children love to pass out valentines? Because they love to shop and select what they like. Just as you and I revel in mooning around a store and feeling the freedom of choice that is the real thrill behind all buying. It isn't acquisitiveness half as much as it is a matter of expression.

Girls like to make valentines, and it is fun for them to paste and paint and cut out designs. But boys haven't the patience as a rule. If you think it all nonsense, please try to recapture your own excited anticipation of the great day when you were little. Yes, it is sheer nonsense, thank goodness. But wouldn't it be a grand world if our own idea of a good idea were so easily gratified?

subject of conversation. "The big racket in this country right now is the numbers racket. The football pool is no small turkey around Thanksgiving time. But they're just a chiseling game on a big scale. Now you take the jewel thieves—"

"You take 'em," Dirk said, smiling.

"All this talk about unsettled money conditions has made the rich people afraid of gold and securities. A lot of them are putting all their money in jewels. The underworld knows it. There are in territorial syndicates which do nothing but steal and market precious jewels."

Dirk was watching the old downy, Madame Doreen, seat herself for dinner, close by. Her companion, the money little girl, was trying to quiet her, but Madame, slightly deaf, went right on talking in loud, stentorian tones which everyone in the salon could have heard. She was idly fingering a large jeweled pendant about her throat, and as her hands turned to the lights a dazzling collection of large diamonds blazed forth.

"I always come in late," she said readily to her companion, "so as to attract no attention. It's vulgar to make an entrance."

Dirk smiled. "Now, take that nice old lady," he said. "You're not going to suspect her of any thing."

"Her jewels are probably paste," Snowshoes said dourly, and Dirk laughed. "She's the real thing and too wise to come on board a ship with her real jewels!"

THE dining room was crowded now, and they looked about them to see three hundred guests merged into one indistinguishable mass of blue clothes under the soft lights. There was a sound as of buzzing bees, as people talked and laid plans to satisfy their various desires. And there were perhaps three hundred human wills at that moment working at cross purposes.

"I can tell 'em," Snowshoes added. "There's a slice of rich Park Avenue, a slice of high brow Broadway, and a slice of—"

He paused to watch two sleekly dressed individuals enter the dining room, walking stiffly past their table.

"Times Square," he said low. "That was Dutch Lenz, and bless me your drinking pal of a few minutes ago."

"Manie Jackson," Dirk supplied. "I'll just write that down." Snowshoes said, "for future reference but it's probably a phoney name they always are."

By Paul Harrison

HOLLYWOOD—The screen's foremost "heavy" just now is a brown-haired, clear-eyed, pleasant-faced little girl named Bonita Granville.

Bonita is mean (on the screen, of course we mean—Bonita is vicious, malevolent, domineering. Not impish, "wicked" like Topsy, but utterly fiendish, like a Borgin. She is a sly, invincible liar, a poisoner of minds. So convincingly does she act her part that people on the lot—people who'd scarcely glance at a Boris Karloff or a Peter Lorne—whisper, as she passes, "There goes the hell-child! That's the Granville kid."

The "Granville kid," just turned 13, is the villainess of Samuel Goldwyn's "These Three." The picture, with a deep howl to the Hays office, has been based more or less on a drama impudently titled "The Children's Hour," and now well into its second season on Broadway.

Bonita is too much of a trouper to mind being despised by screen audiences. She has done her share of shedding childish sweetness and light in various pictures, and they didn't get her anywhere, particularly.

This role, though, provides a chance for emotional acting that few if any Hollywood youngsters ever have had. "I like mean parts," she said. "There's so much more character in them."

It may be that Bonita has heard prophetic whispers that her performance in "These Three" is likely to make her a rather celebrated actress. But if she has heard them it isn't the fault of her mother.

"Just Lucky"

Mrs. Granville is trying by every means and stratagem to keep Bonita an ordinary little girl. Admitted it's quite a wrench to parental pride when she squeals Bonita's every inkling of importance.

"I tell her she's lucky; that thus-and-so other girls could do very well in the movies if they had a chance. Bonita goes to a junior high school here, and the other children expected her to be stuck up, but she isn't. Her best friends are not studio children."

"Of course she isn't a bit mean, really. Minds me absolutely, and never has a temper tantrum. She always was full of mischief, but harmless. A natural mimic."

"I remember in 1932, when she was working in 'Enslaved,' she picked up a perfect cockney accent in a day or two, and at night, at the dinner table, she'd have us all in stitches imitating all the players and repeating most of their lines. You ought to hear her—"

"There's a little bit of bad in every good little girl," runs an old refrain, so don't be surprised. To learn that this winsome child just now is the screen's arch-villainess. In a new production, Bonita (Bun-Bun to her folks) Granville, 13, plays the role of a vicious, lying child in sensational fashion.

"Mother!" pleaded Bonita. "I don't want anybody to think I imitate people. I just want to act."

Likes School

"I like school. I like algebra and languages best. I'm a little behind now, but until this year I got straight A's. No, I don't like to read much except newspapers. I like to swim and paint dresses on dolls. I like to go to plays and the movies, and he in plays at school."

"She's growing up," observed her mother. "She goes to dancing school and is beginning to want to go to parties. She has a boy friend, too, who calls her up every—"

"Mother!" protested Bonita, and fled to the set.

Dad Acts, Too

Mrs. Granville smiled. "I shouldn't talk so much. I'm bored to death by mothers who talk about their children. I hope Bonita—we call her Bun-Bun—and she hates it—won't be a 'Hollywood child,' although she has been here since she was 7. Her father is an actor, you know—Bunny. And I danced. But we've tried to raise her in just the ordinary way."

"She got in the movies by accident, because she looked a little like Ann Harding and could play her daughter in 'Westward Passage.' That was in 1935. She doesn't look like Ann Harding now. They darkened her hair for this picture and Bonita still cries when she looks at herself in a mirror."

New Farm Bill

"It might take until 1938, at the outside."

Satisfactory On Paper

On paper, however, the situation figures out very nicely. There's only one State Legislature (Alabama) that will not meet until 1939 in regular session. Of those States which have biennial sessions, thus far only Kentucky, Mississippi and Virginia are meeting this year. This means these three States will have no regular sessions of their legislatures again until 1938.

However, in the case of both Kentucky and Virginia, the sessions of the legislatures began in January and will continue by law for 60 days. In the case of Mississippi, there is no time limit on the session. Conceivably, these States might have sufficient time this year to approve the farm plan.

In the case of Alabama, probably the only way would be for the governor to call an extra session.

The remaining 43 State legislatures meet in regular sessions in January of 1937.

Mathematically computed, it would seem direct Federal grants, without an expression from the States, would be necessary only for this year's crop.

TEXARKANA, La.—(AP)—This town was in winter's grip, but an apple tree in the yard of H. S. Witterslatter was bearing fruit as a result of warmer weather earlier in the season.

About a Road
Editor The Star: I have been a reader of your paper for a long time. I would like to ask a question, if you would print it for me.

My name is A. A. Taylor, Columbus, Ark., superintendent on Mr. R. M. LaGrone's farm. I have been here four years. He has 1,200 acres of land, here in one body, pays a 3-mill road tax, and there is about two miles of public road through it—which is almost impassable.

And for the last two years there hasn't been one dollar's worth of work done on it.

The question is, What did they do with his 3-mill tax?

I would be glad to see this in print, as we have a hard time getting in and out. It might make folks think.

This Is My Symphony

To live content with small means; to seek elegance rather than luxury; and refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not only to respect and wealth, but to study hard, think quietly, talk gently and frankly; to listen to stars and birds, to babes and sages, with open heart; to hear all cheerfully, do all bravely, await occasions, hurry never. In a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden and unconscious, grow up through the common. This is my symphony.

—William Ellery Channing.

Beautiful red carnations adorned the buffet. At either end of the table handsome Georgian silver urns were presided over by Mrs. E. L. Richards and Mrs. C. C. McNeill. Others assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Fred R. Harrison, Mrs. Jack Stewart of Vicksburg, Miss and Misses Joy O'Neal, Harriet Story and Mary Louise Keith. ## Trades Leave Great Holes to Be Filled by the Athletics

Yankees and Tigers Have Minor Problems Also at Start of the 1936 Campaign

NEW YORK.—Quite a few of the big league pennant race machines are going to need replacement parts this year; otherwise, they're going to miss a couple of cylinders and wind up among the also-rans.

Trades during the off-season have wrecked the ignition of several of the teams that their managers are burning plenty of midnight oil over the problems. They're hoping against hope that some of their rookies will fill into the shoes of tried and true veterans traded since the close of '35.

One fellow who's doing plenty of figuring is the ancient and honorable Connie Mack, who peddled everyone but the bat boy to Tom Yawkey. First and foremost, Connie must fill the expansive sandals of James Emory Fox, the Sudlowville socker who played out of first base for the A's, and also did very well in the plate.

If Jim Oglesby, the west coast rookie up from Los Angeles, can do three-fourths as well as Fox, Connie will feel that there still is something worth living for. Oglesby hit .350 in the coast loop last year, and experts contend he won't be so far under that mark in his first year under the big tent.

Lazzeri Needs Relief
The Red Sox, Indians and Browns are pretty well fixed having traded or sold no established star during the year without having acquired others in the deals.

Problems of the Yankees and Tigers aren't so difficult, although you couldn't call finding someone to replace Tony Lazzeri at second for the Yanks, and Marvin Owen at third for the Tigers, a trivial matter.

Chicago has two problems on its hands. One is to fill in for Al Simmons. The other is to replace Jimmy Dykes at third.

The White Sox outfield now shapes up with Rip Radcliff, Mule Haas, and Vernon George Washington doing duty. But Haas isn't the fielder he once was, and Dykes may have to call on Mike Kreevich, who comes up from Kansas City with an average of .345, for service.

Should Dykes, as rumored, retire from active duty this year, he probably will be forced to call on Joe Morrissey, up from Toronto, where he hit .272 last year, or Charley Uhas, a free agent from Cleveland.

Washington is faced with replacing Helme Manush, the outfielder sent to Boston. Of course, Carl Reynolds, acquired from the Red Sox in the deal, will fill in the Dutchman's place. But if he flops—he hit only .270 last year—Bucky Harris probably will call on Doc Miles, a swift rookie from Chattanooga, who swatted 344 last season.

Glantz May Miss Parnellee
In the National League, the Braves and the Phillies can be passed off with the remark that they ought to go out and get whole new teams, although the Boston bunch especially needs pitchers who can make up for the loss of Parnellee and Brandt.

Bill Terry is going to find it tough to find a replacement for Tarzan Parnellee, despite the fact that he gave up on the fireball finger and traded him to the Cards for Burgess Whitehead. The replacement may come in the person of Clem Dreiscowder, a southpaw who pitched 41 consecutive scoreless innings in the Middle Atlantic League year before last. He comes up from Nashville.

Backley probably will have to get a better first-string receiver than Babe Phelps before the season is far gone. The Blimp is not the center Al Lopez was. Stengel has two rookie receivers in camp, Ray Berries from Sacramento and Walt Millies from Chattanooga.

Chicago must replace Freddie Lindstrom, even though he didn't play the entire 1935 season. Tuck Stainback is by no means a sensational outfielder, and the job may fall to Johnny Gill, the oft-tried minor leaguer.

The Cards, due to Bill DeLange's illness, need a new catcher. Orodowsky, up from Columbus, is labeled a coming major league star, and Frisch probably will give him plenty of work this year.

Frankie is plenty worried about second base, too. With Whitehead gone, and his own pins not as young as they once were, the former Fordham Flash doesn't figure to play the full season and may have to depend on Lyle Judy, sensational minor league base stealer.

Reds Weak at First
Pepper Martin is going to the outfield, and Frisch will be forced to gamble further by putting Charley Gelbert, coming back after a shotgun wound three years ago, at third.

Cincinnati's problem lies at first. Jim Boutmyer is on the way out, and George McQuinn, who comes up from the Yankee farm at Newark, and Les Scarsella from Wilmington will battle for the job.

The Pirates have troubles, too. Pie Traynor isn't going to play third base very long, and the job of filling that spot will fall to either Cookie Lavagetto or Wilbur Brubaker. Then, too, Lloyd Warner's recent pneumonia attack may prevent him from playing until mid-season. If "Little Poison" doesn't get in the game, Fred Schulte, acquired from Wilmington on waivers, probably will fill in.

A Fight for Temperance (From the Helena World)

Editor Alex Washburn in his Hope Star is waging a vigorous fight to keep legal liquor from being outlawed at a special local option election on the question soon to be held there. He is running a series of copyrighted articles in which he sets forth the view that in fighting for retention of the late liquor law in Hope he is fighting for the liquor law and against lawlessness.

We believe Editor Washburn is right. His newspaper has gone much further than most of the other newspapers of the state in fighting for temperance, even refusing to carry liquor advertisements on the theory that advertising placed before the people might induce them to buy more liquor than they might otherwise.

While the Helena World does not subscribe to the latter view, we feel an admission for a publisher who has the courage to refuse the liquor law to the extent that he would refuse extra revenue in order to sustain those convictions.

We do not feel that advertising such as the distillers carry in the Helena World is designed to increase consumption of liquor. On the contrary, each advertisement merely sets forth its qualities in comparison with other brands of liquors. Nothing is ever said that would indicate liquor has valuable medicinal qualities or that liquor will be healthful, or in any other way attempt to induce people to drink liquor. In fact, we are constrained to commend the distillers for the distinctly unambiguous manner in which they have confined their advertising to sell their own particular brands and not to selling more liquor in general.

We have seen nothing that would tend to influence youth, or members of the weaker sex, to take to drink. We have seen distillers buying advertising space or otherwise conducting campaigns in those counties or towns in Arkansas where local option liquor elections have been held, attempting to influence the voters to remain wet.

As a matter of fact, the distillers had little or nothing to do with securing passage of the present Arkansas liquor law. There was no "lobbying" done for the bill by the distillers, or any one else for that matter. The distillers didn't even send any free liquor into the state for the use of the legislators, and many of the boys frequently expressed disgust at the apparent stinginess of the "liquor crowd."

In all probability, if Hope goes dry despite Editor Washburn's efforts, there will be about as much liquor sold and consumed there as at present. There will still be a demand for liquor there, and as long as there is a demand, there will be little or no trouble in having it supplied.

Local retail liquor dealers who at the moment are going through a very bad slump in their business since the Christmas holidays believe firmly there was more liquor consumed during prohibition than now. There is some ground for this belief, because we personally knew more bootleggers in dry days than there are retail stores in the county today. The bootlegger's "everhead" may not have been quite so high, and although he paid no license or taxes, nevertheless he was arrested frequently and paid fines that virtually amounted to license fees.

Mr. Washburn might also tell his people that the next legislature will doubtless give serious consideration to withdrawing benefits of liquor taxes from counties and towns that refuse to allow it to be taxed by the state. We can see neither rhyme nor reason in collecting liquor taxes to help foot the relief bills of Nevada, Maine and other counties that have invited the unlicensed and unfixed bootlegger back.

Pontiac Sets New Economy Record

Averages 23.9 Miles Per Gallon in California Test Run

In California's famous Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run, held January 15 to 17th under official A. A. A. supervision, Pontiac demonstrated more than 20 cars of comparable size, price, or weight gives equal mileage. Averaging 23.9 miles per gallon over 352 miles of difficult roads, a Pontiac Six won first place in its price class defeating all other entrants.

This officially supervised test lends authority to the many testimonials of Pontiac owners reporting from 18 to 24 miles per gallon of gas—and confirms the victory scored by Pontiac cars in various cities where Pontiac dealers entered "open challenge" competitions.

To big savings on gasoline, Pontiac adds ever greater comparative oil economy surpassing by a wide margin the oil efficiency of many smaller lighter cars.

When Water Burned—No Foolin'!

No, you're not "seeing things"; this really happened. This cloud of flame and smoke shot up from the waters of a drainage canal at Wichita, Kan., when a pedestrian tossed a lighted match into the stream, covered with oil waste from rollerries. Firemen had to wage a stubborn fight with chemicals to stop the blaze.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Perhaps the old men of Congress are not hurrying us into war. But they are doing considerably less than nothing to keep us out of it.

As late as a month ago, it appeared that drastic permanent neutrality legislation was certain as a result of strong congressional sentiment backed by overwhelming and articulate popular desire.

Now the atmosphere suddenly has become little short of jingoistic. Congressional leaders and the administration are ditching previous neutrality plans in favor of extending the relatively weak and supposedly "stopgap" neutrality act now in effect.

Theoretically responsible statesmen are hollering warnings against the Japanese. Others are hollering that "freedom of the seas" must be pro-served at all costs.

There's a great outcry on Capitol Hill in favor of the biggest of all wartime appropriations for army and navy.

Youth Against Age

There are several reasons for the change of outlook. But no factor is more interesting—not to say significant—than the cast of characters involved, which reveals that the contest over neutrality is, and has been, a "bitterly definite conflict between the young men of Congress and the old."

Such young men are willing to have their country sacrifice trade, profits, and neutrality rights to avoid the ravages of war. The old men, it appears, are not.

The first statesman to challenge the Senate Munitions committee was Senator Carter Glass of Virginia. Glass is 78, the oldest of the senators.

One of the chief fears that led the administration to feel that the neutrality issue might well go over until after election was the belief that Senator William E. Borah, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, might try to make a burning issue of it if there were any curtailment of America's traditional—not actual, as England learned to her profit—insistence on "freedom of the seas" and other neutral rights.

Borah might have embarrassed the administration and cast its votes. Borah will soon be 71 years old.

Johnson to the Fore
The man who split the whole business wide open in the Senate was Hiram Johnson of California, who announced he would fight any abandonment of "neutral rights" to the bitter end.

It was Senator Johnson, too, who publicly revealed the supposedly secret and bitterly denunciatory anti-neutrality program statement by John Bassett Moore, international law expert, to the Foreign Relations committee.

Johnson is 69 years old. John Bassett Moore is 75 years old.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, who was first to announce the intention to drop ambitious neutrality plans—which the committee had in its charge—is Senator Key Pittman of Nevada. This is the same man who has been making belated speeches against Japanese foreign policy. In the latter activity he has been helped by Senator Ham Lewis of Illinois.

Pittman is 63 years old. Ham Lewis is 72.

Chairman of the House Appropriations committee, which just reported out the army appropriation bill for $543,000,000—largest in peacetime history—is James P. Buchanan of Texas. Buchanan is 69 years old. Chairman John J. McSwain of the Military Affairs committee is nearly 61. Chairman Sam McTernold of the House Foreign Relations committee is 63.

Anti-Warriors

Foremost among the fighters for strict neutrality—some of them war veterans—with their ages, are:

Chairman Nye of the Munitions committee, 43.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, 46.

Senator Homer Bone of Washington, 52.

Chief Investigator Stephen Rauschenbach of the Munitions committee, 39. (His staff averages under 30.)

Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas, 40.

Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York, 53.

Congressman Byron Scott of California, 52.

California houses hundreds of its insane on model farms, run in connection with asylums.

California ships more than two-thirds of all the cauliflower grown in the United States.

The 100 hens of the Florida national egg-laying contest averaged 19.8 eggs per fowl during December, 1935.

A 219-pound meteorite, which was found near Social Circle, Ga., about 15 years ago, is on exhibit at the Georgia museum.

Exiled Germans Find No Comfort

Feeling So Bitter Against Nation That They Return Home Again

BERLIN.—(AP)—Bitter anti-German feeling abroad is causing hundreds of expatriated Germans to hit the trail back home.

So many have come in recent months that the foreign division of the national socialist party has set up an office to aid them while they are getting settled again in the fatherland.

This movement, which offsets in a small way the emigration from the Reich of Jews and "political undesirable," is chiefly of Germans from South America, France, Belgium and Russia. They are merchants, laborers, engineers, domestic servants, and school teachers.

"Existence," they say, "was either completely cut off through anti-German propaganda or else progress was made impossible."

Four hundred of them assembled recently in Berlin. The Nazi party is helping them to find jobs and entertainments are being staged to divert their minds.

"We want to show these Germans," say party leaders, "that our idea of aid to all needy Germans extends over the whole world."

Tom Sawyer in Mishap

BEAUMONT, Tex.—(AP)—Tom Sawyer, 6, ran into a new adventure as his home in Corrigan. A double wheel flew off a passing oil truck, crashed through a picket fence, and caught Tom's cowboy suit, stripping it from him and knocking him down.

Now is the Time For This Help in Preventing Colds

Formula Especially Designed to Aid Nature's Defenses in Nose and Upper Throat, Where Most Colds Start

PART OF COLD-CONTROL PLAN

Don't wait for a cold to develop—or get you down. After any unusual exposure, head that first warning nasal irritation or sneeze—apply a few drops of Vicks Vapo-rinol up each nostril. Used in time, Vapo-rinol helps to avoid many colds.

Vapo-rinol is especially designed to aid and gently stimulate the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Vapo-rinol spreads through the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

For Fewer and Shorter Colds

Note for your family: Vicks has developed, especially for home use, a practical Plan for Better Control of Colds. This commonsense guide to fewer and shorter colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of Vicks Plan come in each Vapo-rinol package.

Over 53 Million Vicks Aids Used Yearly for Better Control of Colds

NAMES in the NEWS

One of the first things a cub reporter learns is that names make news. There are two kinds of names which make news. Names of people. And names of things—products and services—things which touch you more closely than the thunderings of a Senator or the escapades of a Prince.

Look through the advertisements in this newspaper and you'll see names you've known most of your life. Dependable names—names that stand for value—announcing improvements in quality, improvements in service, new and better ways to perform old household tasks, ways to save money and raise your standard of living.

Follow the news those names are making, day after day. Read the advertisements regularly, and use them as millions of other people are loing—to keep up-to-date in the world of goods and services; to save time, effort and trouble in shopping; to help budget your expenditures and get the most for your money.

Each puff less acid—Luckies are A LIGHT SMOKE OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

For twenty-five years the research staff of The American Tobacco Company has worked steadily to produce a measurably finer cigarette—namely, a cigarette having a minimum of volatile components, with an improved richness of taste—"A LIGHT SMOKE."

We believe that Lucky Strike Cigarettes embody a number of genuinely basic improvements, and that all these improvements combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.
